

BURKE OPENS HIS CAMPAIGN

Democratic Candidate for Governor Addresses a Rally at Williston.

PRaises Work of PROCTOR

Endorses Roosevelt's Policies and Urges Voters to Be Independent—Declares His Platform to Be "Public Office is a Public Trust."

Williston, Aug. 4.—The opening gun in Vermont's democratic campaign was fired at the town hall this evening when the Hon. James E. Burke of Burlington, candidate for governor on the democratic State ticket, addressed an audience of about 50 people. A heavy electrical storm about 7:30 had much to do with keeping down the attendance, but as this is the birthplace of Mr. Burke and many more would have greeted him under more favorable conditions. The Williston band was in attendance, the original plans for the rally being for an outdoor meeting at the Corners with address from the band stand.

Mr. Burke was introduced by James E. Kennedy, candidate for county senator, and spoke of the pleasure that it gave him to be among his old friends and neighbors in opening what he considered to be the most important campaign in many years. He paid a high tribute to the administration of President Roosevelt and Governor Proctor, but said he believed it more important that the issues of the campaign be settled and settled right than that any one party should be perpetuated in power. He saw no difference in the form of government when it was honestly administered and that as good citizens we should all take pride in the advance and interests of our beloved State. His argument was that republicans could support the Roosevelt policies by voting for Bryan.

PANIC CONDITIONS.

One of the issues that overshadowed all others, said Mr. Burke, is the panic conditions of the country, disclaiming it as a Roosevelt panic and laying it at the doors of certain powerful financial interests which dominate the party in power. Even Roosevelt has not been able to resist these evil influences, the causes of which are a serious reflection on the people of the United States.

He spoke favorably of the work of the commission on double taxation and insisted that the matter of taxation can be remedied. He would rectify the lax work of the listers by having their work supervised by a commission. He also believes that when a person dies the commission should have power to go to the probate court, investigate the estate and be empowered to legally proceed against it if false lists are found to have been made. If so back taxes should be collected.

NEW JAIL NOT BIG ENOUGH.

He believed that the license law was a good thing for Vermont and a vast improvement over the prohibition law. The appointment of license commissioners should not be placed in the hands of assistant judges, but that there is a remedy for the condition but that he was not prepared to say just what Burlington's new jail, however, he said is not large enough to accommodate the drunks under the present law and such conditions are a serious reflection on those in power.

He believed in the present system of carrying out the work of extending good roads, his only criticism being that it was not being done on a large enough scale. He advocated the building of trunk lines and permanent highways throughout the State.

He concluded by saying that he would take as his platform "public office is a public trust" and he would treat it as such if elected governor next month.

VICTIM OF AUTO ACCIDENT.

Mrs. H. C. Conings, Hurdled from Car at Montgometry Center.

Montgomery Center, Aug. 4.—Mrs. H. C. Conings of Richford was seriously injured in an automobile accident here this evening. The car, owned and driven by her husband, was a half mile from this village when one front wheel came off. As the speed was moderate, Mr. Conings was moderately injured. The car, which occupied the back seat, succeeded in escaping injury and Mr. Conings was not thrown out. Mrs. Conings, who was on the front seat, was hurled some distance and badly cut and bruised about the head. A deep gash was cut over and under her eyes and she was taken to an unconscious condition to the home of Dr. G. S. Clark. The full extent of her injuries could not be determined but she was retaining consciousness at the time this dispatch was filed.

PAROID is the Standard

Permanent Ready Roofing

There is hardly a manufacturing concern in or around Burlington that has not more or less PAROID ROOFING in use.

Some concerns have as much as 150 to 200 squares.

Several are replacing old roofing with PAROID on their different buildings just as fast as the old wears off.

The heads of these companies are men of good business judgment who realize that known quality at a fair price is always a better proposition than an untitled article at a low price.

Martin Wheeler of Colais Has Had Trouble with Young Wife.

Montpelier, Aug. 4.—State's Attorney Benjamin Gates was called to Colais today, where it was reported that Martin Wheeler had left his family and gone into the woods to shoot himself. Attorney Gates did not consider it a case for him, at least for the present, and is awaiting developments. Up to this evening, nothing had been seen of Wheeler, but it is believed he has taken his own life.

Mr. and Mrs. Wheeler have not lived happily together and the State's attorney has twice been called to their home in the role of peacemaker. Wheeler is 32 years old, and has a young wife of whom he has been very jealous. In the past they have not lived together for several months.

HANGED BY A CHAIN.

Eden Man of 60 Years Was Despondent from Illness.

Eden, Aug. 4.—Robert Reed, aged about 60 years, committed suicide by hanging today. He was in poor health and despondency was the cause. He was left alone for a short time by his wife, who went to call on a neighbor a quarter of a mile distant. She was gone about half an hour and when she returned found him hanging by a chain in the barn, dead.

KENT CLUES NO GOOD.

Bloodhounds Did Not Take the Scent at Brookline.

Rutland, Aug. 4.—The second attempt made today to locate with the aid of bloodhounds Elroy Kent, who is charged with the murder of Miss Della B. Condon of East Wallingford July 23, served only to explode two more so-called clues. Deputy Sheriff A. A. Leonard of Wallingford and Deputy John H. Polley of Fair Haven took two bloodhounds this morning to Brookline in Windham county where a man stole a revolver and food yesterday. The dogs did not take the scent and the officers decided that the trail was not Kent. The man's kleptomaniac tendency made the authorities think that it might have been he.

This afternoon the same officers took the dogs to a Wallingford cheese factory near the scene of the murder where a man stole some cheese curds yesterday. If Kent had effected the factory, the rain of last night washed away all scent and the dogs could do nothing. The officers have nothing else on which to work at present.

SMALL MONTEPELIER FIRES.

Lightning Entered Dr. Hunt's House by Telephone Wires.

Montpelier, Aug. 4.—During a heavy thunder storm this evening lightning followed the telephone wires into the residence of Dr. G. E. Hunt on Spring street, setting fire to the wood work. The fire department was called out but the blaze was extinguished before its arrival.

Another alarm at 11:30 this evening for a slight fire in the transformer house of the Consolidated Lighting company on Berlin side. It was caused by crossed wires and no damage was done.

MAYOR WELCOMED THREE.

Small Attendance at Opening of State Undertakers' Convention.

Rutland, Aug. 4.—Three members were present at the opening meeting here tonight of the three days' session of the Vermont Undertakers and Embalmers association. Mayor Henry O. Carpenter gave the address of welcome and C. M. Elson of Willimansett, president of the association, responded for the visitors. There was discussion of a bill governing the granting of undertakers' licenses and the practice of embalming which will be presented to the Legislature next fall. Tomorrow afternoon comes the social feature of the convention, a clam bake at Lake Bomoseen. The ladies will be invited. Prof. Thornton Barker of New York will be the principal speaker of the convention.

GRADE CROSSINGS ABOLISHED.

Enosburgh Falls, Aug. 4.—At a hearing before the State board of railroad commissioners in this place today, the board ordered two grade crossings on the Central Vermont railway near North Enosburgh abolished and that the Central Vermont construct a new highway so that the road shall run north of the track on land now owned by Charles Frank Forsyth. It was ordered that the railroad complete this highway for travel on or before November 15. The Messrs. Forsyth were awarded $200 land damages.

MISSIONARY MEETING OPENS.

Fairfax, Aug. 4.—The Green Mountain Missionary Institute opened last evening with President A. F. Ufford in the chair. After devotional services, short addresses were delivered by the Rev. E. T. Frost of Richmond, the Rev. A. H. Gage of St. Johnsbury and the Rev. Silas P. Perry of Richford. Among those present as members of the faculty other than those above mentioned are Professor Smith of Rangoon, Burmah, Miss A. Shinn of Boston, the Rev. E. C. French of Lyndonville, the Rev. J. S. Brown of St. Albans, the Rev. A. S. Gilbert of Passumpsic, the Rev. John Irons of Shelburne and Miss Grace M. Young of Fair Haven. Classes during the morning hours are held in the New Hampton Institute building. Evening services will be held in a Baptist Church with the Rev. A. S. Gilbert and Louis Hieb of Burlington as speakers.

STATION AGENT VANISHED.

Confusion at Montpelier Junction When Angler Took to Woods.

Montpelier, Aug. 4.—Station Agent P. L. Under of Montpelier Junction left his post today without giving his superior at St. Albans any intimation that he wanted to quit. Until Lucien Howe, a spare telegraph operator, could be secured, freight trains were obliged to run into Montpelier for orders and confusion reigned. Agent Angier has a week or more pay due him but has not called for it. He had been in no trouble, but evidently got tired of his job and took to the woods.

LUMBER MILL BURNED.

Waterbury, Aug. 4.—The first serious fire since the installation of the water system ten years ago, broke out at nine o'clock last evening in the steam mill of the Waterbury Lumber company owned by G. E. Woodard and A. I. Torrey, which was consumed. It is probable that the fire was caused by a match carelessly thrown by a workman. The loss is estimated at $2500, with an insurance of $1500.

CAMPAIGN NEWS.

Items of Political Information Heard at Republican State Headquarters.

At a conference of officials of the Southern railroad and other prominent business men of the South, held in Washington, D. C., for the purpose of discussing business conditions and for perfecting plans for moving of crops in the 8-10th territory, the opinion was generally expressed that since the national conventions were held there are unmistakable signs of a general business improvement throughout the entire South.

Mr. Hagen, nominee for President by the Independent party, is a big, blue-eyed, light-haired man of very rugged physique. His running mate, the candidate for vice-presidency, Col. Graves, is a dark-haired, courtly man of the type generally supposed to belong to the old-time Southern chivalry. The contrast in appearance of the two men is perhaps as typical of the races, North and South, as could have been brought together.

As an indication of the comparative business conditions in the two parties, a pointer is found in the fact that an order for $100,000 worth of automobile gas engines, placed at Logansport, Ind., was made conditional that it could be cancelled in case of Bryan's election.

A leading Southern newspaper asked the question, "Can Mr. Bryan do the Democratic party good?" The Omaha Bee, from Mr. Bryan's own State, answered, "Yes, under Mr. Bryan's leadership the Democratic party has already been done good."

Chairman Hitchcock of the national republican committee, opened headquarters New York today in the Omaha Hotel, from Mr. Bryan's own State, answered, "Yes, under Mr. Bryan's leadership the Democratic party has already been done good."

The treasurer of a large manufacturing corporation, with headquarters in Boston, which does business all over the country, is stopping with his family for a few weeks near Newport, and in a conversation relative to the business situation, he stated that the nomination of Mr. Taft is having a good effect upon business; that there is a noticeable increase in business; that business men feel that his election will start a new era in business in the country. This man is not a politician nor a partisan in other party.

Among employees of the Chicago stock exchange, "A Fat Man's Club" has been organized. The minimum limit of weight is 200 pounds, and the heaviest member weighs 300 pounds. The president of the club weighs 265. The club has a platform as follows: "Realizing the heavy importance of good and well-fed men working together in harmony, and in view of adding weight to the political situation and the greatness of the republican convention in nominating such a large and many expansionist, we hereby organize ourselves, etc."

LINCOLN IN 1856.

His Unsuccessful Candidacy for the Vice-Presidency—Samples of Early Republican Enthusiasm.

(From The Story of the Convention, by Col. John Tweedy, in Hartford Courant.)

The informal ballot for candidate for President resulted as follows: John C. Fremont of California.....329 John McLean of Ohio.....204 Nathaniel P. Banks of Massachusetts.....199 Charles Sumner of Massachusetts.....2 William H. Seward of New York.....1 The formal vote resulted as follows: John C. Fremont of California.....329 John McLean of Ohio.....204 William H. Seward of New York.....1 General James Watson Webb then offered the following resolution:

Resolved: That this convention do unanimously nominate John C. Fremont of California to be the republican candidate for President of the United States at the ensuing election.

The president said all who were in favor of that would signify the same by giving three hearty cheers, and they were given lustily and three more, and a great many after that.

A scene of wild and boundless enthusiasm ensued, baffling all description. The convention arose in a body, took off their hats and waved them, shouting all the while.

On the platform, as soon as the vote was declared, a large white banner was raised with "John C. Fremont for President of the United States" upon it. In front of the platform there was raised a star-spangled banner, with a similar description. Banners were also displayed from the windows to notify outsiders and the shouts within the hall were caught up and echoed by the crowd in the streets.

do immediately proceed to take an informal vote for a candidate for Vice-President of the United States, to be supported by the Republican party at the ensuing elections." The resolution was adopted. Mr. Wheeler then proposed the name of Hon. William L. Dayton, New Jersey, "loud and reiterated cheering." Hon. John Allison of Pennsylvania said he had "been requested to nominate as a candidate for the vice-presidency, Abraham Lincoln of Illinois. (Cheers.) He knew him to be the prince of good fellows, and an old-line Whig" (Cheers).

Col. William H. Archer of Illinois said he had been acquainted with the man who had been named (Lincoln) for thirty years, and he knew him well. He was born in gallant Kentucky, and was now in the prime of life—about forty-seven years of age—and enjoying remarkably good health. And besides he knew him to be a patriot as good as Red Rover standing off the shore. "Can he fight?" Colonel Archer replied emphatically, "Yes! (Great applause.) Have I not told you that he was born in Kentucky? He's strong mentally; he's strong physically; he's strong every way."

Mr. Jay of New Jersey said he was an old-line democrat, he had been a democrat until the present administration having thrown aside democratic principles, he could remain with the party no longer. He had helped to elect Pierce, for which he had hoped to be forgiven. (Applause.) He continued his remarks, advocating the nomination of William L. Dayton.

proposed the name of David Wilcox. The order of business was suspended temporarily in order that resolutions adopted by the Republican State Convention of Pennsylvania which had just adjourned, giving its "warmest assent" to the nomination of Colonel John C. Fremont as a candidate of the party for the presidency and promising for their "united and most hearty support," might be presented to the convention.

Judge John M. Palmer of Illinois seconded the nomination of Abraham Lincoln. He said he, too, had been an old-line democrat, and was very sorry for his last vote. He had known Lincoln long and knew he was a good man and a good worker in the field, although he had never heard him—"for when he was on the stump I always dodged. He is my first choice, and I am going to name my next boy after him. (Laughter and applause.) We can lick Buchanan any way, but I think we can do it a little easier if we have Lincoln on the ticket."

Anthony J. Blocker of New York presented the name of John A. King. The informal vote resulted as follows: William L. Dayton of New Jersey.....233 Abraham Lincoln of Illinois.....119 Nathaniel P. Banks of Massachusetts.....43 David Wilcox of Pennsylvania.....43 Charles Sumner of Massachusetts.....43 Jacob Collamer of Vermont.....3 John A. King of New York.....3 Samuel C. Pomeroy of Kansas.....3 Thomas H. Ford of Ohio.....3 Cassius M. Clay of Kentucky.....3 Henry C. Carey of Pennsylvania.....3 Joshua R. Giddings of Ohio, Whitefield Johnson of New Jersey and Henry Wilson of Massachusetts received two votes each, and Aaron S. Pennington of New Jersey one.

Connecticut cast one vote for Dayton and 17 for Banks. New York's vote was most generally distributed. It went: Dayton 15, Lincoln 3, Banks 24, Wilcox 1, King 3, Sumner 3, Ford 6, and Clay 1. The Illinois delegation cast the name of Nathaniel Banks in a speech that was loudly cheered throughout.

Thaddeus Stevens of Pennsylvania withdrew the name of David Wilcox. Mr. Root of Ohio said: "Sir, this morning I had a conversation with Governor Ford of Ohio. Said he: The boys may be troubling you with my name, I want to fight, but don't let them buckle a knapsack on me, I can fight better light. We can't spare Tom Ford; we want him for home consumption." (Loud cheers.)

Hon. E. Rockwood Hall then offered a resolution that the convention proceed to take a formal ballot for a candidate for vice-presidency, with the name of William L. Dayton of New Jersey, and the vote was taken. Judge Palmer in behalf of the Illinois delegation withdrew the name of Abraham Lincoln and cast the entire vote of that State for William L. Dayton.

Pennsylvania voted unanimously for Dayton, as did all the other States, except New York, which cast the entire vote of the convention.

When the nomination was made "the whole convention rose and gave nine hearty cheers."

UNDERWEAR EXPERIMENT.

Soldiers to See If Blood Orange Color Is Cool.

Washington, Aug. 3.—The war department is preparing to experiment on enlisted men in the Philippines with a new sort of underwear to determine whether the color of those garments in any way serves as a protection against the heat. Five thousand suits of underwear are being sent to the islands for the purpose of the experiment. The men are to be divided into two groups, one wearing the old blue underwear and the other wearing the new orange underwear. The experiment is being prepared as an experiment.

PRIEST CREATES SCENE.

Made Unsuccessful Attempt to Force an Audience with the Pope.

Rome, Aug. 4.—The doing of an irresponsible priest, named Felix Savagny of the diocese of Treviso, caused considerable excitement at the Vatican today and resulted finally in his expulsion from the Vatican precincts. For some time past this priest, who is 33 years of age, has insisted upon an audience with the Pope claiming that he desired the redress of certain wrongs which he declared he had suffered at the hands of the Vatican. The audience was denied, the authorities considering that the man's claim did not justify a personal hearing.

To-day Savagny placed himself at Raffaele Lavi's point where the Pope was expected to pass. When the Pontiff approached the gardes asked the priest to move on. This the man refused to do and he began to shout and gesticulate in a threatening manner, causing considerable alarm among a number of pilgrims who had just been received by the Pope. Then gardesmen then put him out.

VERMONT NOTES

The Stone Masons Union of Rutland will attend the next meeting of the Red Carriers Union in a body, in an effort to settle the dispute which caused the Red Carriers to strike in June. The two bodies are widely separated in their claims.

State Geologist Perkins of Burlington has examined a deposit of asbestos on the Vose farm in Mechanicsville and pronounces it to be of excellent quality and the quantity sufficient to warrant its development.

The ice cream parlor of Charles Ross in Groton was entered Thursday night by burglars, the money drawer being rifled, but no money was stolen as Mr. Ross always takes it to his home when closing for the night.

Guy Chase, aged 13 years, son of L. F. Chase, a severe merchant of Townshend, was drowned while bathing in the West river Wednesday July 23. It is supposed he was choked by peanuts, as partly chewed peanuts were found in his mouth.

J. D. Cote of Bellows Falls has secured the contract for building the new library in that village and will begin its construction at once. Mr. Cote's revised contract price is $1375. As the finished product must not exceed $15,000, this leaves the committee $1,200 for grading and several other necessities.

Thomas A. Austin completed Friday 20 years of service as regular carrier on the Brattleboro postoffice force, making a quartet of carriers who have served a score of years in that office. The three others, Dennis E. Tasker, William E. Barber and Spencer W. Knight, completed their 20 years of service a year ago.

Miss Mary Laroek of Randolph is suffering severely from blood poisoning in her left hand that became infected from a sore on her thumb, which was treated as a felon two years ago and healed over. It has lately been worse than ever and she will soon go to the Mary Hitchcock hospital in Hanover, N. H., whose surgeons think it will be possible to save her hand.

The Woodbury Granite company of Bethel have relinquished the contract for furnishing stone for the new station at Barre. Their bid was $150 below the Barre bids. When Barre men learned that Bethel granite had won the contract, they put in such a kick that the railroad company asked the Woodbury company to cancel the contract. It was a small job and the Bethel company was willing to cancel.

The Windham county democratic convention at Newfane made the following nominations: For Senators, Dr. O. M. George of Rockingham and John E. Gale of Guilford; for Judges of Probate, Charles W. Butterfield of Rockingham and George E. Davis of Newfane; for assistant judges of the county court, James E. Keefe of Rockingham and Harry B. Haus of Brattleboro; for sheriff, Walter H. Hall of Willimansett; for State's attorney, Arthur P. Carpenter of Brattleboro; for high bailiff, Edwin H. Brown of Dummerston. Mayor James E. Burke of Burlington, the democratic candidate for governor of Vermont, addressed the convention.

The drought throughout Orleans county is severe. Fields that have been hayed are brown, especially on the hills and dryer farms, and hay that is not yet out is turning red and drying. Pastures are suffering for lack of rain though the small rainfall has helped. Cows are drying up and many are feeding grain. Treasurers report a great shrinkage in quantity of cream received and the matter is one of some concern. The hay crop is reported lighter than usual because of the drought and some other crops are suffering. From some sections grasshoppers are reported very plentiful and are injuring growing grain and adding to the shortage of the pastures.

The band of gypsy marauders who caused so much trouble in Castleton and surrounding places reached Ludlow Thursday afternoon. They were met at Bailey bridge by S. A. Colton, first selectman, and eight special constables who were appointed for 48 hours and escorted to the Cavendish line where a body of citizens of that town hustled them along. There were about 75 gypsies and 35 horses. When the band reached the John Blake place on the Mount Holly road, they held up the only man about the place, Harry Murphy, and went through the kitchen and pantry, eating all the provisions in sight. The gypsies were in town about three hours, getting provisions and water for their horses, all the time rounded up by the special constabulary.

The funeral of Frank A. Hayden was held Wednesday July 29 in the Universalist Church at Ludlow. The Rev. Temple was in charge. Sixty members of the commandery at Windham were bearers. They were Frank A. Walker, Frank W. Acan, George W. Raymond, Walter A. Gilbert of Ludlow, Park Pollard of Proctorville and P. A. Leland of Chester. The Odd Fellows, Blue Lodge and Knights Templar formed a procession to the house to the church through which the body was carried, followed by the family and close friends. The Rebekahs had previously taken their places in the church. All the places of business were closed, including the stores, mills and chair shop, during the funeral. At the close of the services the body was taken to J. F. Ballard's house, and it was taken to Boston for cremation Thursday morning.

RACES AT VERMONT FAIRS.

The racing at the fairs this year promises to be far superior to that of any former year. Entries for the stake events have already been closed, and judging from the stables that will be represented the races in this connection alone will be worth coming some distance to see. The racing end of the Sherbrooke fair is well provided for. The circuit is composed of seven meets, beginning at Stanstead, August 15-20, and, in addition to the stake events, the following program has been arranged for:

Stanstead, August 15-20: 217 trot, purse $250; 2:35 pace, 2:17 trot, $250; free for all, $250.
Morrisville, August 25-27: 2:40 pace, 2:36 trot, $150; 2:22 trot, $250.
Sherbrooke, August 29 to September 5: 2:35 pace, 2:31 trot, $250; 2:22 pace, 2:18 trot, $250; 2:10 pace, 2:17 trot, $250; 2:14 pace, 2:11 trot, $250; free for all, $400.
Barton, September 6-12: 2:35 pace, 2:36 trot, $250; 2:29 pace, 2:17 trot, $250; 2:35 pace, 2:31 trot, $250; 2:14 pace, 2:11 trot, $250; free for all, $400.
Brattleboro, September 29 to October 1: 2:40 pace, 2:36 trot, $250; 2:29 pace, 2:25 trot, $250; 2:34 pace, 2:30 trot, $250; 2:14 pace, 2:11 trot, $250; free for all, $400.

JUDGES HAVE BEEN CHOSEN.

State Fair Commission Makes Selections—Big Cattle Entries.

Judges have been chosen for nearly all departments of the Vermont State fair to be held at White River Junction Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Sept. 22, 23, 24, and 25. They are as follows: Gerald Hewatt, White Plains, N. Y., dairy cattle; Arthur Banks, Allamuchy, N. J., coarse sheep; H. E. Sanford, Middlebury, fine sheep; Spencer Horden, Fall River, Mass., Morgan horses; Wentworth C. Bacon, Greenfield, Mass., ponies and dogs; W. C. Renahan, White River Junction, horticultural; E. H. Forrester, Massachusetts, agricultural college, Amherst, Mass.

Mr. Horden, who will judge the Morgan horses, is an extensive breeder of Arabian horses and an authority on all breeds of the equine race. He will act as judge at the State fair upon the suggestion of the Morgan horse breeders of Vermont.

The executive committee of the State fair commission met at White River Junction last Saturday and paid a visit to the fair grounds. The grand stand addition is completed and the arrangement is ideal for seating 5,000 people.

The ticket arrangement will be modern and up-to-date and a big improvement over last year. George E. Whitney, the treasurer, will have personal charge of this matter. He will be assisted by H. E. Chamel, one of the directors of the Sherbrooke fair. Special ticket stands and turnstiles are to be provided.

Last season the cattle show was the largest ever made in New England. This season even a greater exhibition will be made. Entries have already been made from some of the middle west States, including three herds of Scotch-tapped short horns by Carpenter & Ross of Mansfield, Ohio. Another big herd will come from Greenfield, Mass.
